Critical Cartography is an ongoing project in which I'm slowly drawing maps from every episode of Geek & Sundry's Critical Role. It's updated infrequently, since I only work on it when I have the spare time.

The project was featured on Geek & Sundry's website in May 2017, and I gave a short interview to go with it. You can read it here.

To stay up to date with the project you can follow it on Twitter @critmaps.
